NASDAQ BALTIC MEMBER RULES, VERSION 1.8 – January 22, 2024

1. GENERAL

Nasdaq Baltic

As an integrated marketplace for listing, trading and clearing of securities as well as information services, Nasdaq Baltic is a central gateway to Baltic financial markets. Nasdaq Baltic offers trading services from the following market operators; Nasdaq Tallinn, Nasdaq Riga and Nasdaq Vilnius (hereinafter all together or each individually Nasdaq Baltic or Exchange(s)).¹

With its' Trading Systems, Nasdaq Baltic enables efficient cross-border trading, offering cross-membership and providing one source for market data. With central access to the Baltic financial markets Nasdaq Baltic helps attract more interest and investment in the whole region. Listed companies admitted to trading receive greater exposure. Members enjoy more efficient access. All in all, liquidity increases, costs decrease and the range of opportunities expand.

The common securities market necessitates a common set of rules, which has been achieved by the Nasdaq Baltic Member Rules. Nasdaq Baltic provides cross membership of the Exchanges. When applying for membership of one of the Exchanges an intermediary can be given an Nasdaq Baltic Membership of all Exchanges, if applied so. This Nasdaq Baltic Membership is granted, provided that the legal requirements in each jurisdiction permit.

As the Nasdaq Baltic belongs to the Nasdaq Group (particularly to the Nasdaq Nordic as an integrated marketplace), the Nasdaq Baltic Exchanges have adopted these Member Rules as a set of the requirements and trading rules for the Members harmonized to the greatest possible extent with corresponding rules of market operators belonging to Nasdaq Nordic (Nasdaq Nordic Member Rules, NMR). Nasdaq Nordic include the following exchanges: Nasdaq Copenhagen, Nasdaq Helsinki, Nasdaq Stockholm and Nasdaq Iceland.

Trading Systems

Trading on Nasdaq Baltic takes place in two (2) systems, INET Nordic and GENIUM INET.

Both Trading Systems continuously broadcast every change in the market. The information is displayed in real-time in the form of order books, market summaries, concluded trades, index information and reports of various kinds. The system offers a real-time dissemination of information to members. All traders with access to this information receive the information at the same time. The traders can thus enter their orders, without having to be in personal contact with the counterparty. At the same time, they gain an instant overview of the market situation.

The same Trading Systems can be used for trading in financial instruments admitted to Nasdaq Nordic and Nasdaq Baltic.

INET Nordic

Equity instrument trading on Nasdaq Baltic takes place in the electronic trading system INET Nordic. The system is designed for meeting the needs of standard trading as well as advanced algorithmic trading and market data services for co-location customers.

GENIUM INET

Genium INET offers fixed income functionality to support both order driven markets and price driven markets. For order driven markets, bids, and offers are entered in the relevant order book and automatically matched to trades when price, volume and other order conditions are met. Furthermore, any trade made outside the order book must also be reported in Genium INET. Genium INET also offers functionality to support the issuing of new bonds via an electronic order book.

Market data

Nasdaq Baltic also makes public real-time information of orders, interests and concluded trades to other market participants and to the public via a set of Market data products which are described on the website. Market data is distributed in direct feeds from the trading systems, aggregated and refined via the consolidated feed, as reports retrievable from the file server and viewable at Nasdaq Baltic's websites (visually common Baltic website).

Membership

For access to all or some of the Nasdaq Baltic markets, membership is required on each Exchange. An application for membership to any of the Nasdaq Baltic Exchanges will be considered to be an application for Nasdaq Baltic Membership unless the applicant states differently. When a member applies for Nasdaq Baltic Membership a membership may be granted for each of the mentioned three (3) Nasdaq Baltic Exchanges provided that the legal requirements in each jurisdiction permit and are met. Access to the market and trading is simpler, cheaper and, as a consequence, more attractive with Nasdaq Baltic Membership.

Clearing and Settlement

The membership of any Nasdaq Baltic exchange requires participation directly or indirectly in clearing and settlement systems where the relevant instruments are cleared and settled. Clearing and settlement are to be viewed as separate systems from the Trading System and are thus not regulated by these Baltic Member Rules.

Nasdaq Baltic Member Rules and rule related documents

The Nasdaq Baltic Member Rules give a complete rules on membership conditions and on trading rules.

The Nasdaq Baltic Member Rules chapters 3 and 4 are general rules and apply irrespective of which market the member is trading on. Chapter 5 applies for trading in INET Nordic and is divided into several Market Segments based on the different types of instruments. Chapter 6 applies for trading in Genium INET with general rules and individual Markets. The Market Segments on INET Nordic and Markets on Genium INET are related to the different trading methods applied to the instruments.

The Nasdaq Baltic Member Rules are harmonised, though due to differences in the national legislation there are a few specific rules in chapters 1 to 5 that are different. The general fixed income rules are harmonised. Special rules apply to each Market Segment due to differences in market structure on the Exchanges.

Certain rule related documents that are referred to in the specific rule clauses give further guidance and more detailed requirements to the rules (for example documents like guidelines, procedures, trading specifications etc) . Usage and functioning of the trading systems have been further elaborated in the Nasdaq Nordic's Market Models – documents, which contain more detailed descriptions of the trading conditions and characteristics for each system.
