4. RISK FACTORS

The following discloses certain risk factors that may affect the Issuer's ability to meet its obligations under the Bonds. All of these factors are contingencies which may or may not occur and the Issuer cannot express any opinion as to the likelihood of the occurrence of any of these contingencies. In addition, the following describes the factors that are relevant for assessing the risks associated with the Bonds. The risks outlined below may adversely affect the Issuer and, in severe instances, may result in the Issuer's insolvency and a violation of the covenants established under the Bonds.

Investors should carefully review and consider the following risk factors and other information contained in this Document before making a decision to purchase/subscribe for the Bonds. If one or more of the risks described below were to occur, it could have a material adverse effect on the Issuer's business and prospects. In addition, if any of these risks were to occur, the market value of the Bonds and the likelihood that the Issuer will be able to meet its monetary obligations under the Bonds could decline, in which case the Bondholders could lose all or part of their investment. Additional risks and uncertainties that are not currently known to the Issuer, or that the Issuer currently considers to be immaterial, could also impair the Issuer's business and have a material adverse effect on its cash flows, financial performance, and financial position. The order in which the risks are presented does not reflect the likelihood of their occurrence or the magnitude of their potential impact on the Issuer's cash flows, financial performance, and financial condition.

4.1. Risks related to the Issuer

RISK	DESCRIPTION
Economic environment risks	The Issuer's activities and results are contingent upon economic developments both domestically in Lithuania and internationally. In the event of an economic downturn, the demand for the Issuer's services may decrease, the risk of insolvency of the Issuer's customers may increase, which may have a negative impact on the implementation of the Issuer's business strategy and results.
Credit risk	The Issuer's customers may be financially unable to make settlements or may avoid meeting their contractual obligations. This exposes the Issuer to the risk of financial losses and potential revenue shortfalls. The Issuer also uses financial bank loans in its operations – on 31 December 2023, the Issuer's bank loan balance amounted to EUR 2,670,002. The Issuer also envisages using bank loans to finance future operations. The Issuer's fixed assets are pledged as collateral to secure the bank loans, and if unforeseen adverse developments were to hinder the Issuer's ability to meet its obligations under the bank loans, resulting in banks foreclosing on the pledged assets, it could limit the Issuer's capacity to operate its business in full and, accordingly, this could impede the Issuer's ability to redeem the Bonds when due.
Liquidity risk	The Company may not have sufficient cash or other liquid financial resources to meet its financial obligations in a timely manner, may not be able to obtain those liquid financial resources in the short term through borrowings, through the sale of its assets, or may be required to sell the Company's assets, or a portion of the Company's assets, on unfavourable market terms, which could result in a loss. Although on 31 December 2023, the Issuer's current assets exceeded its current liabilities and its liquidity ratio (current assets to current liabilities) was 1.13, it is possible that in the future the Issuer may not be able to fully cover its current liabilities using short-term liquid assets. The liquidity risk is manifested by the temporary or permanent insolvency of the Company and, as a last resort, by the opening of insolvency proceedings against the Company.
Competition risk	There is a risk that increased competition could affect the Issuer's profitability or result in a potential loss due to inadequate response to competitors' actions or environmental changes. The Issuer operates in a competitive market characterised by the dominance of several large market players holding oligopolistic positions. The emergence of new players or the initiation of significant pricing changes by existing market participants may adversely affect the Issuer's ability to grow its sales or to maintain sufficient profitability, which may in turn impede the Issuer's ability to redeem the Bonds when due.

Supplier risk

The main suppliers may change the terms of their cooperation in such a way as to impair the Issuer's financial performance. This risk is controlled by the Issuer as it uses a diversified supplier base and does not use critical equipment or services supplied by a single supplier.

Dependence on external funding

The Issuer needs sufficient resources to finance its normal operations and investments. Additional resources may also be required to expand the Issuer's operations through additional investment in the Issuer's communications network. For these reasons, the inability to secure sufficient short-term and long-term external funding in the form of loans may limit the Issuer's expansion plans and lead to poorer operating results and reduced solvency. In addition, the cost of borrowed capital used by the Issuer fluctuates depending on the market situation for borrowed capital. A significant increase in the cost of borrowed money would have a negative impact on the Issuer's financial performance and ability to redeem the Bonds when due.

Management and human resources risks

The performance of the Issuer will depend, to a large extent, on the Issuer's team of employees, the decisions it makes, and the experience and skills of the individuals who make up the team. There can be no assurance that the Issuer will be able to retain all current key individuals crucial for its successful management, or successfully recruit new professional staff members. The loss of individuals crucial to the successful management of the Issuer, their potential recruitment by competitors of the Issuer, and challenges in attracting new qualified personnel could significantly impact the Issuer's management, business operations, financial results, and overall financial condition and, consequently, could have an adverse effect on the Issuer's ability to redeem the Bonds when due.

IT risk

The Issuer's business (the provision of internet and related digital services) is directly dependent on the use of tangible information technology and software. With the continuous development of IT technologies and the emergence of new and more advanced technological solutions, the Issuer must continuously focus on maintaining and updating the state of the managed IT infrastructure. In addition, unforeseen disruptions to the information technology in use may lead to disruptions in the services provided by the Issuer. Such short-term disruptions could have a negative impact on the Issuer's short-term financial results, and the inability to maintain a sufficient level of smoothly functioning IT infrastructure in the long term could also lead to long-term adverse changes in the Issuer's business and financial results. Such developments could adversely affect the Issuer's ability to redeem the Bonds when due.

Risk of failure to manage development

The Issuer plans to significantly expand its activities, both in terms of the number of customers it serves and the range of services it offers. There is a risk that the Issuer's rapid expansion may not allow it to adjust its business processes accordingly, expand capacity or make other changes in a timely manner to ensure effective management of the expanded business. Such inability may result in adverse financial results which may adversely affect the Issuer's ability to redeem the Bonds when due.

Risk of data loss	There is a risk of the loss of operational data and documents stored within the Issuer's systems and shared drive, either in part or in entirety. The data loss may result in prolonged disruption of the Company's operations, the initiation of legal proceedings, the obligation to compensate for third-party damage, and the threat of substantial fines for non-compliance with personal data processing regulations.
Risk of cyber-attacks	The Issuer operates in the data transmission and digital services sector, which is exposed to the risk of, and is vulnerable to, cyber-attacks and incidents. The Issuer uses advanced security measures in its operations; however, this does not completely eradicate the possibility of a cyber-attack that could result in damage to its systems or the theft of data belonging to the Issuer or its customers. Such incidents could result in financial losses and adversely affect the Issuer's ability to redeem the Bonds when due.
Risk of force majeure events	The risk of force majeure events poses a threat to the continuity of the Issuer's business, and stems from factors the consequences of which may be wholly beyond the control of agreements or contracts, and which cannot be controlled, reasonably foreseen or prevented from occurring. The risk of force majeure events may arise from natural disasters, disturbances or acts of war. The risk factors of force majeure may have a significant impact on the provision of the Issuer's services and the receipt of payment for them.
Reputational risk	There is a risk that the Issuer or its employees, through inappropriate actions, strategies or communications, could lead to the formation of a negative opinion among the public or a segment thereof regarding the Issuer. The risk of a negative reputation could lead to significant losses of customers and funds.
Refinancing risk	The Issuer may have to refinance its debts, including the Bonds. The Issuer's ability to successfully refinance its debts depends on the conditions of the debt capital markets and its financial position at the time. The Issuer's inability to refinance its debts or to refinance them on favourable terms may adversely affect the Company's financial position and the ability of the Bondholders to recover funds under the Bonds.
Regulatory risk	The Issuer operates in the information transmission and digital services sector, which is heavily regulated by both EU and national legislation. In addition, the Issuer operates in an oligopolistic market, which is subject to additional regulation, enabling the Issuer, as a small player in the market, to smoothly expand its activities and compete successfully. Any adverse regulatory developments may have significant negative consequences for the Issuer's business model, may result in the need for additional investments or a change in the competitive situation, which may have negative financial consequences and may reduce the Issuer's ability to redeem the Bonds in a timely manner.
Risk of litigation	The Issuer may be involved in legal disputes in the future as a result of its activities. An adverse resolution of the dispute against the Issuer could potentially impact its business operations, financial status, and reputation in a negative manner. This may affect the Issuer's ability to properly discharge its obligations to the Bondholders, and the attractiveness and liquidity of the Bonds.
Tax risk	The introduction of new taxes relating to the Issuer's activities or changes in applicable taxes may adversely affect the Issuer's performance.

4.2. Bond-related risks

RISK	DESCRIPTION
Inflation risk	There is a risk that, in the event of inflation, the depreciation of money might exceed the yield on the Bonds.
Listing risk	There is a risk that, due to various factors, the Company may not be able to include the Bonds in the debt securities list of the alternative securities market "First North" in Lithuania administered by AB Nasdaq Vilnius, which may complicate the secondary circulation of the Bonds, and that investors wishing to sell their Bonds may not be able to do so prior to the expiry of the redemption period.
Unsuitability of the Bonds for some investors	The Bonds may not be the right investment for some investors. Every potential investor in the Bonds must evaluate the appropriateness of the investment based on his or her individual circumstances. An individual considering investment in the Bonds should refrain from doing so unless they possess personal experience, either directly or through qualified financial advisors, to evaluate the effects of market and economic condition changes on the value of the Bonds.
Collateral-related risk factors	The Bonds will be secured by a first ranking pledge of the Issuer's receivables from customers. Apart from the above collateral, there are no other collateral or guarantees of the Issue provided by third parties. The collateral securing the Issue does not ensure that, in the event of a default by the Issuer, the collateral can be realised in such a manner or that its liquidation value is high enough to fully satisfy all claims of the Bondholders.
Changes in the Issuer's financial position	Any adverse change in the Issuer's financial condition or prospects may have a significant adverse effect on the liquidity of the Bonds and may result in a material decrease in the market price of the Bonds.
Potentially unfavourable decisions of Bondholders' Meetings	The laws applicable to the issue of the Bonds provide for the possibility of resolving certain matters at Bondholders' Meetings. Attendance of all Bondholders at the Meeting or unanimous approval from all Bondholders is not necessary for the decision to be adopted at the Bondholders' Meeting. Accordingly, the decisions made at the Bondholders' Meeting will be binding and effective for all Bondholders, including those who abstained or opposed the decision.
No voting rights	Only shareholders of the Issuer have the right to vote at the Issuer's General Meetings. The Bonds do not confer such voting rights. Therefore, the Bondholders may not influence any decisions of the Issuer's shareholders relating, for example, to the Issuer's capital structure, commitments, or other transactions.
Risk of early redemption of the Bonds	Under the terms of the issue, the Bonds may be redeemed prior to the specified maturity date at the discretion of the Issuer. If the Issuer exercises the early redemption right, the return on investment in the Bonds may be lower than originally expected.
Changes in the legal and tax environment	The legal and tax environment relevant to the Bond issue may change. Bondholders may face additional expenses, procedural requirements, and diminished returns on their investment in the Bonds.

5. PURPOSE OF THE BOND ISSUE

Bonds to be issued and the aggregate amount of funds the Issuer seeks to raise	Up to 8 000 units of the Bonds with a nominal value of EUR 1,000 each. Accordingly, the aggregate (maximum) amount of funds the Issuer seeks to raise is up to EUR 8,000,000.
The main purpose of the Bond issue	The Bonds are being issued for the purpose of raising capital for the Issuer's (i) financing the expansion of its business (ii) possible refinancing of an existing bank loan.
Projected net funds to be received (after deducting the offering expenses), categorised by the intended utilisation of the funds	The net amount of proceeds expected to be received from the placement of the Bonds in the first Tranche of the Bond placement is EUR 4,850,000. It is anticipated that total amount raised will be earmarked for financing investments in the expansion of the Issuer's broadband network and the development of new services. The Issuer also retains the option to use part of the amounts raised (up to EUR 2,510,000) to re-finance an existing bank loan.
